

Old World Charm Brings Country To Life

Brentnall have completed a breathtaking Victorian provincial manor inspired by the grandeur and ambiance of traditional European homes from the late 1890's.

The architecturally unmatched design is a moment captured in time with a contemporary modern flair, inspired by the classic homes found throughout the European countryside.

The two storey manor is reminiscent of a grand European country house, offering the traditions of the 1890's, with all the comforts and convenience of the modern day.

The luxurious property, sits on over 800sqm of land and features seven bedrooms, each with their own ensuite, expansive alfresco entertaining areas, an entertainment room with a built-in bar and fireplaces.

Owner Andrew Locke, enlisted the help of Brentnall Homes to help him realise the home of his dreams, after longing for a classic and architecturally elegant home that he said didn't exist yet.

"I wanted a home that had the feeling and grandeur of a traditional French country manor but with a fresh and contemporary design. I couldn't find anyone who understood my vision until I met with Brentnall Homes," Mr Locke said.

"Brentnall took care of absolutely everything and Siobhan's unique eye for detail has resulted in an impressive selection of timeless interior design finishes beyond my expectations.

Brentnall Homes co-director Siobhan Pearson, said the house was modelled on traditional Victorian era designs including window shutters, stone exterior and feature windows on the first and second floors, filling the home with natural light.

"We wanted to replicate the beautiful structure and aesthetics of the olden days and bring it to today," Mrs Pearson said.

"At Brentnall we love to create something truly unique and we guarantee that we never build the same house twice. We like to think of it as owning your very own piece of history," she said.
